The Canadian Abridgment Case Law Digests

The Canadian Abridgment Case Digests is a comprehensive collection of more than 950,000 digests of Canadian case law that is organized by legal issue according to a single taxonomy (The Canadian Abridgment Key Classification System). This collection is exclusive to Carswell, and covers virtually every case reported in Canada since 1803, and every reported or unreported case received from the courts since 1986, with the exception of Quebec civil law cases. New case digests are added to WestlawNext Canada every day. Abridgment Digests are written by lawyers and adhere to strict editorial standards.

Abridgment Digests are more than just a general summary of the facts and proceedings in a particular case. They are written on an issue-by-issue basis, and a single judgment may have several case digests; one for each legal issue considered in the case. Standard classification phrases derived from the Abridgment Key Classification System are used to identify the legal issue, and to ensure that all Digests on a particular issue are gathered together. Most Digests also include a brief summary of the facts and ratio of the case. The case citation following the Digest includes the direct appellate history of the case as it pertains to the particular legal issue being digested.

WORDS & PHRASES

Words & Phrases enables users to find judicial interpretations of words and phrases.

It is based on the Words & Phrases Judicially Defined in Canadian Courts and Tribunals component of the Canadian Abridgment, a multi-volume collection published in print since 1993. It provides judicial interpretations of both statutory and common law terms from the 1800s to the present. It includes more than 60,000 Canadian interpretations of 30,000 terms, making it by far the largest service of its kind available in Canada in any medium. All interpretations of a word or phrase appear in a single document, making it easy to browse through several interpretations at one time. (Cross-references appear both in the Result List and on each document to link you to related entries.)

Interpretations are organized within the Words & Phrases entry by jurisdiction. Each interpretation contains: the relevant passage from the decision; the subject area of the case; the name, citation, court level and judge(s) of the decision.
